Celtic Castles Celebrates Third Place Success at Eaton Smith Solicitors' Business of the Year 2025 Awards

The specialist travel company, established almost 30 years ago, continues its award-winning journey with further recognition for its growth, expertise and commitment to exceptional castle experiences.

Celtic Castles, a leading specialist castle stay provider, has achieved third place at Eaton Smith Solicitors' Business of the Year 2025 Awards, recognising its continued growth, innovation and dedication to delivering unforgettable experiences for castle guests around the world.

The team was delighted to attend the awards ceremony, joining fellow finalists and business leaders to celebrate 30 years of Eaton Smith's Business of the Year Awards and the achievements of businesses across the region.

This recognition follows a period of significant growth for the company, highlighting its unique position within the travel industry and its commitment to combining expert knowledge with outstanding customer service.

Founded on a passion for historic properties and memorable stays, the niche travel company has built a reputation for connecting travellers with some of the world's most remarkable castles, offering a trusted, personal approach to finding the perfect castle experience.

Roger Masterson, Founder and Co-Director of Celtic Castles, fondly known in the industry as "The Castle Man", said:

"We are incredibly proud to have been recognised by Eaton Smith and to have achieved third place in their prestigious Business of the Year Awards, especially as the awards celebrate 30 years of recognising business excellence. This achievement is a wonderful reflection of the passion, dedication and hard work of the entire Celtic Castles team, and we are honoured to have our journey and values recognised by such a respected organisation."

The award adds to the company's growing list of industry recognition over the past 12 months, demonstrating the company's continued progress and contribution as an ambitious, customer-focused business.

Celtic Castles remains committed to expanding its collection of exceptional castle stays while maintaining the personal service, expertise and passion that have made the company a trusted name among castle enthusiasts worldwide.
